

Jim has over thirty years' experience in public accounting. He is responsible for financial statements, corporate tax returns, and preparation of all required reports as well as the supervision of staff that assist him. He has extensive experience with budgeting, financing arrangements and implementing accounting policies and procedures for commercial entities including the construction and manufacturing industries. He is an expert in self-insurance trust funds, providing specialized forensic accounting services for more than two-dozen funds including those for the New York State Workers' Compensation Board. In addition, Jim works with private high schools and nonprofit organizations.

EDUCATION

Canisius College, Bachelor of Science, Accounting

PROFESSIONAL

American Institute of Certified Public Accountants
New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants
Construction Financial Management Association

COMMUNITY

Better Business Bureau, Treasurer