

Jesse joined the Firm with over five years of experience providing direct IT support. As Lumsden's IT Manager, Jesse is the point of contact for IT department tasks including software as a service troubleshooting, server administration, network administration, exchange server management as well as cyber-security awareness, and client-facing technology support. On top of support, Jesse handles projects ranging from cloud integration to new software platforms, migration of tax software, and cyber-security awareness.

EDUCATION

SUNY Fredonia, Bachelor of Science, Computer Information Systems